DELEGATES RELEASED FROM PLEDGES AND INSTRUCTIONS

SON OF PRESIDENT IS CLINGING TO LIFE BY SLENDER THREAD

Slight Hope Still Held By Physicians For His Recovery

POISON CREEPS OVER SYSTEM

Gas Reported Forming On Patient's Stomach Today

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 7—The last point of gravity was reached this afternoon in the condition of Calvin Coolidge Jr., son of the President, suffering from blood poisoning, at Walter Reed hospital.

He was clinging to life with a wonderful tenacity, but hope was about all that was held out for his recovery. All of his medical attendants were remaining close by and finding as chiefly marvelous the stamina the boy was exhibiting.

Gas was said to be forming in the stomach and additional evidence of the progress of the infection and making it impossible for him to take nutrition by the ordinary means.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge were remaining immediately at hand. Despite all of the unfavorable conditions, his bedside watchers and physicians still held to hope that he might recover by means of the determined fight he is making for his life.

After a consultation of physicians early this afternoon, President and Mrs. Coolidge decided to go to the white house for luncheon, indicating that the doctors felt their patient was not actually in a dying condition.

WASHINGTON, July 7—After a night, during which the patient was said to have been near death in three sinking spells, Calvin Coolidge Jr., son of the president, still was fighting bravely for his life today, with his safe passage through the early morning hours giving slightly increased hope for his recovery.

It was announced shortly after seven o'clock this morning that the President's son was somewhat more comfortable after having passed through hours regarded as marking the most critical stage of his illness from septic poisoning.

At nine o'clock this morning the physicians said the boy had a little more than a fighting chance for his life.

Dr. Greer Goes To Mayo Clinic

Dr. H. D. Greer, well known local physician, and C. T. Royer, Decatur alderman, left Saturday night for the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn. Mr. Royer will receive treatment there, while Dr. Greer will spend several weeks studying surgery, X-ray and the new chlorine treatment for colds and influenza.

The use of chlorine in the treatment of colds and similar ailments is a very recent discovery and physicians of the nation now are much interested in its development. Tests made of use of the gas, it is said, shows almost a perfect score and partially all cases in which it has been used have shown either complete cure, or very nearly complete.

FLAPPER OF 14 SLAYS BROTHER.

ANNA BOBAR

John Bobar, a 15-year-old Yonkers, N. Y. boy, was deeply religious. He stripped life of fun. When his daily task ended he sat down with the Bible to find that salvation held up to him by the priest of the little Russian Orthodox Church he attended. His sister Anna is only 14. When the boy saw her in cheap silk dresses, with silk stockings and with her lips deeply carmed, he thought it the bread of damnation. She even spent 15 cents for a magazine that displayed on its cover a bare-necked girl. He tore it from her as "an instrument of the devil." The poor Russian mother could not patch up the quarrel. The girl was cutting a loaf of bread when the brother repeated she was "bad" and that some day he would have to kill her. She thrust the bread knife through his heart.

COMMUNION OBSERVED SUNDAY AT WESTMINSTER PRESBYTERIAN

Sunday morning holy communion was observed at the Westminster Presbyterian church with the usual number participating. Preceding that observance, there were regular church services led by the pastor, Dr. L. F. Goodwin.

With Mrs. George Jackson at the organ and the choir leading, a number of hymns were sung at the opening of the service. As a vocal solo Mrs. A. A. Hardage sang the 84th Psalm in a most inspiring and acceptable manner. Dr. Goodwin when he arose to preach his sermon, took occasion to commend the solo by Mrs. Hardage and to remind his hearers of the divine sentiment contained in the beautiful psalm.

In what Presbyterians call "the long prayer," pastor Goodwin's words reminded that without God's strength, human weakness will fail, that without God's wisdom, human knowledge is foolishness, and that without God's love, human hearts will become hardened by sin.

"The Tears of Christ"

"The tears of Christ" was the subject of the minister's Sunday morning sermon, and he used three texts: John 11:35 "Jesus Wept." Hebrews 5:7 "who in the days of his flesh, when He had offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears unto Him that was able to save Him from death, and was heard in that he feared."

The third text had reference to the Savior's tears over the sad fate that was to befall Jerusalem.

The preacher said the every gesture of Christ was important as were all His words, but that the Savior's tears made a special appeal. Tears were declared to bring all into kinship. "Language, race, and prejudice may tend to separate people," said the speaker "but tears bring them together." "Tears are the common heritage of the poor, of the rich, the high, the low, the ignorant and the learned, and of

CONVENTION GOES BACK TO BUSINESS OF BALLOT TAKING

Delegates Settle Back To Dreary Test Of Endurance

SLIGHT CHANGE IN INITIAL STAGES

McAdoo Is Continuing To Show The Way To Opponents

(Associated Press)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., July 7—Brushing aside the pending proposals for suspending the rule and to release delegates, the democratic national convention today went back to the dreary business of balloting for president.

The proposition of the 15 minority candidates, including Governor Smith, and the counter proposition by Mr. McAdoo, were reported.

An attempt to refer the proposal to the rules committee, led by McAdoo men, was defeated by a large vote. The effect of the move, which was beaten, was that a report from the rules committee to eliminate the two thirds rule could have been adopted by a majority of the convention whereas a two thirds majority now is required.

With that the convention went back to the tussle and apparently to demonstrate that all sides were just as stubborn and unyielding on Monday morning as they were on Saturday night. It started as usual, with Alabama 24 for Underwood.

There was no change in the voting until Colorado was reached and there McAdoo gained a half vote. Smith lost one, Davis lost a half. In Florida Smith lost one. In Illinois Smith gained five and McAdoo was unchanged. McAdoo lost half a vote in Maine.

Michigan rearranged its votes entirely, going to Ferris with 17, and giving Underwood three. It took 8 1-2 from McAdoo and 5 1-2 from Smith. Robinson got two from Minnesota. It was obvious through the first ballot of today, the 78th of the season, that if the delegates were looking for a place to go, they still were looking around for it.

Nebraska quit Governor Bryan entirely on this ballot and gave to Senator Walsh, of Montana, the two votes which had been hanging for him there.

Senator Walsh also took up three in New Hampshire, taking them from Smith and McAdoo. Ohio gave a slightly changed alignment, but the vote was scattered among seven candidates, with Smith getting almost half of them.

The Virginia delegation broke on the first ballot and gave ten to McAdoo. The remaining 14 went as usual to Senator Glass. West Virginia also broke for the first time and gave one vote to McAdoo, the remaining 15 going as usual to John W. Davis.

On the first ballot today the leaders stood this way: McAdoo 511, Smith 363 5-10; Davis 73 5-10. This was a loss of 3 1-3 for Smith and 3 for Davis.

Then a resolution was offered by Governor Gilchrist, of Florida, proposing that the rules be suspended for the adoption of a resolution which in turn would adopt the proposals embodying the report of the conferees on the over-Sunday negotiations.

The proceedings were held up for a moment, while McAdoo's leaders conferred on the platform. A delegate wanted the resolution read again, but it developed the official stenographer had disappeared with it. The reading was postponed until the end of the next ballot.

The role call developed little but a

COMPLAINTS HEARD REGARDING PAVING

The meeting of the Albany city council of Friday night, devoted in large part to hearing complaints to paving on Eighth avenue Central Albany and on Seventh and Sixth avenues West, Albany, adjourned to meet Monday July 7 at the city hall.

About 40 complaints were filed in writing to the paving and a number of verbal objections were made.

Two of those making verbal objections also made written objections before the council adjourned. The principal speakers on the paving who spoke to the council were S. R. Garrison and Rev. A. H. Manly. Mr. Garrison presented some figures which he said he wished explained in connection with official assessments made against two of his lots on 7th avenue, west.

Rev. Manly objected to the distribution of costs and questioned certain interest money charged against property owners.

The record of accomplishments of the Friday night's meeting of the council was in part as follows, city engineer Bingham's salary was raised to $250 a month; $235 dollars was ordered spent to paint the city hall, Ragsdale Brothers being given the work. Judge Minor's claim for damages in connection with a "silent policeman," on advice of city attorney was disallowed, the water company agreed to a claim of city that sewers be flushed with the fire plug water; holes in payments of certain streets ordered filled by the Independent Paving company; the complaint of T. C. Sewell as to grade conditions near his home on Moulton street.

The paving on Jackson and Johnston streets was accepted by the council, T. S. Ralston and W. M. Lovelady objected to some paving on Third avenue West, James McBride asked that steps be taken to install a sewer near Seventh avenue West, north of Moulton street.

UNIT AND TWO THIRDS RULE ARE NOT EFFECTED BY RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE PARTY'S NATIONAL CONVENTION

Stand Of Fifteen Minority Candidates Approved Formally By Delegates This Afternoon

(By Associated Press)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, N. Y., July 7—By action of the Democratic convention itself today allowed all delegates to be released from pledges and instructions on presidential candidates.

The action of the convention did not effect the two-thirds rule or the unit rule. By its action the convention approved the stand of the 15 minority candidates including Governor Smith.

Mr. McAdoo's counter proposals did not come up for a vote. The resolution upon the adoption of which the convention voted was as follows:

"Resolved that the time has arrived when, in the opinion of this Democratic Convention, all delegates should be and are hereby released from any pledge or instruction of any kind whatsoever touching upon any candidacy for the nomination for president."

Late today a vote was forced in the Democratic National Convention on the resolution adopted by the fifteen minority candidates, holding that all delegates should be released. It passed.

The vote came on a motion of former Governor Gilchrist of Florida and over technical objections interposed by Gaven McNabb, of San Francisco, a McAdoo leader.

Earlier in the day the convention has brushed aside consideration of the resolution of the 15 minority candidates and the proposal by Mr. McAdoo also. Apparently everyone was full of fight and unyielding, but five more tedious ballots in the steaming Madison Square Garden took some of the belligerency out of some of the delegates and when they came to vote on the resolution, it finally passed.

The McAdoo people passed the word that Mr. McAdoo wanted all his people to vote for the resolution as he did not wish to appear as an obstructionist. The result was that the vote in favor of the movement tumbled in so fast that its passage was assured before the roll call was half over. The effect of releasing delegates from instructions and pledges, while retaining the unit rule and the two-thirds rule, will be developed in the balloting immediately.

There are delegates in the convention instructed by state conventions or primaries who say they are ready to change their vote.

The vote on the motion by Mr. Gilchrist was 985 in favor of it. Chairman Walsh stated his interpretation of the resolution. It does not abrogate the unit rule which prevails wherever it was ordered. It merely expresses the sense of the convention that instructions and pledges are and ought not longer be binding, the idea being that when instructions and pledges were given, it was anticipated that nomination would be in a reasonable time.

LORAIN APPEALS TO CITIES FOR HELP

Appeals have been received by both Mayor James A. Nelson of Decatur and Mayor William A. Britain of Albany, from Mayor George Hoffman of Lorain, Ohio, for aid to the stricken inhabitants of that city, rendered homeless recently by a great storm.

Messrs. Nelson and Britain have decided to have all contributions for the Lorain sufferers left with the clerks of their respective cities. Mayor Hoffman stated in his appeal that the Governor of Ohio, was appealing throughout that state, for aid to the sufferers at Lorain, but that Ohio people would need help from all over the nation, Red Cross at Lorain will administer all funds, it was stated in the telegram of Mayor Hoffman.

The telegram is as follows: Lorain is sorely stricken. Loss will largely fall upon people homeless and without resources. Ohio's Governor acting to secure aid throughout state. This will not suffice. Lorain needs every contribution possible from municipalities or individuals. Send contributions Lorain Chapter Red Cross, National Red Cross will supervise distribution. George Hoffman, Mayor

Band To Play Tonight At Pool

The Albany-Decatur Concert Band has been engaged to play at Malone pool tonight from the hours of 7:30 to 9:30 for the enjoyment of the swimmers and spectators.

During the past cool spell the tank has not been so popular as it was in the early summer but with the return of warm days it is a certainty that capacity crowds will visit the pool during the coming summer afternoons and nights.

DAILY PRAYER—As the thought of duties dis-garded come into our minds, may we go and discharge them, lest we lose the joy of having done Thy righteous will.

They seemed to have to wait until he got sick his trade to indict Albert B. Fall.

The corn fed boys at New York have doubtless en offered corn in liquid form.

They may speak lightly of it, but that does not turb the fact that the pockets of those delegates
 e very light by now.

While the Democrats are making up their minds to the presidency, Republicans are getting votes
 r Coolidge.

Senator Lodge was a great believer in isolation, of course, he was isolated at Cleveland, and he due still more isolation.

The Fatherland people through their govern-ent say they "repudiate even the mere idea of ar." Better 10 years from 1914, than never.

Illustrated news pages in many papers carry e picture of a sixty-two year old man named mer E. Daniels, of Los Angeles, on his way on ot to visit a sister of his in Boston. The story ntains the unusual statement "The sister refus-to recognize her brother."

If the sister had been described as being unable recognize the way worn traveler as her brother, would not have been so bad. It was evidently ade clear to the Boston woman that indeed it was r brother who had walked across a whole con-nent to see her, but the conclusion of the whole atter was she "refused" to own her brother.

The action of the sister recalls a familiar expression to the effect that when a woman does fall e hits the bottom. When the wells of her affection do dry up they are gone forever. To say e refusal of the Boston woman to recognize her wn brother was unusual and unnatural, is not ough. Words fail, in an effort to describe such heartless creature, especially when she knew r brother had walked from the Pacific coast to e Atlantic seaboard to see her.

Whatever the immediate cause of the sister's failure to respond to her brother's affection, the remote cause must have been selfishness of some brand.

The picture of the old man on his way to Boston shows the face of a cheerful expectant person.
 No picture of the man on his return hike to California has appeared.

Language is not described as thought, but as the "vehicle" of thought. In this connection near neighbors of General Charles G. Dawes have stated that certain language attributed to Mr.
 Dawes does not describe his real character by any manner of means. Edward P. Wells, a neighbor of Dawes, is quoted in a recent issue of the Railway Age as saying the "Hell and Maria" Dawes is a wrong phrase to attach to the Republican candidate for Vice-president.

In speaking of Mr. Wells' objection to his near neighbor being judged by the language he has at times used, the editor of the Railway Age says that Mr. Wells knows some of the things about Mr.
 Dawes that do not get on the front pages of the daily papers and continues:

"We all know the 'Hell-Maria' feature of Mr. Dawes career, but so far from being a profane man this expression and the others that went with it were used for the purpose of getting across the matter under consideration and their use was simply an exemplification of a good knowledge of human nature—especially newspaper human nature—on the part of a man who wanted the subject-matter of his cause to come into the limelight even at the expense of carrying it there himself.

Contrary, perhaps, to a widely prevalent belief, Mr. Dawes is a very modest man, not at all given to exploiting the deeds which indicate the real character of the man—as, for example, the adoption into his family of children who otherwise would not have had homes.
 During the war and under what would have been to most men insuperable difficulties, he kept a diary—"no day without a line"—and the overwhelming intensity of these days in France and the rapidity which one series of events followed another, was, on the basis of this material, made the basis of his letters to his mother at home.

Perhaps the real character of the man is depicted as well as it could be in a word or two by his frequent reference "Rufus could have been here." This reference is to the subject of the Rufus C. Dawes memorial in Chicago.
 It means more as to the real man who has generations of the best of our New England ancestry behind him, as has his leader on the presidential ticket, than the "Hell-Maria" and the blackpipe characterizations which create more first page headlines."

A profane person is much more than a person who uses unusual language. He is a person who profanes life. The real violators of the command against the taking of the name of deity in vain, are those who call deity to witness that they will do certain things and then fail to perform their oaths.

The writer says Mr. Dawes is a modest man; which is quite a different thing from saying that he is modest about expressing his views. Lately, the Vice-presidential nominee has said that after many weeks study, he will have something to say to the public at which time he hopes the people will have no doubt as to what he means. It is extremely doubtful if there will be any "Hell and Maria" expressions in the formal address of Mr.
 Dawes.

The Decatur Cornice and Roofing company and the Albany-Decatur Daily were winners in Saturday's doubleheader in the city baseball league at Malone park. The Roofing company won from the Alabama Power company 12 to 11, while The Daily disposed of the Louisville and Nashville shops 16 to 2.

The first game provided many thrills for the fans, the roofing company coming from behind to overcome a long lead and win out over the powermen in the final stanzas. Nelson, who opened for the power company, was effective when he could locate the plate, but was wild and his support finally wavered. Odom, for the Roofing company, grew stronger as the game progressed. In addition to pitching well, Odom hammered out a home run which aided his team in tying the count.

Collier, for the Daily held the shopmen at all stages, while he and his teammates were clouting the offerings of Gordon, Meyers and Donohue. Lee started the Daily's heavy hitting with a clean home run to the fence in left center in the opening inning. The shopmen failed to accord their hurlers air-tight support.

ALBANY-DECATUR MOTHERS CLUB.

A most delightful meeting of the Albany-Decatur Mothers Club was held last week at the Y. M. C. A., when Mrs. Frank Lide presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. L. Proctor.

Mrs. Lide read a splendid paper on "Practical Methods vitalizing our club life," and this was followed by a paper on "Conservation" given in a creditable manner by Mrs. Zeno Bailey. A beautiful vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Frank Morrow. Dr. J. D. Wallace gave a talk on "What We Can Do Towards Meeting Community Needs" which he made especially interesting.

After the program discussion of a Kindergarten to be started in connection with the Club, was taken up and a committee was named for the purpose of selecting suitable rooms. "LOVE ALL"

By Juanita Hamel

SHE'S played with the hearts of men so long that she's an adept in the game. So far, the score's been love all—none of her opponents has won a point. But many have lingered to play her again and again in the hope of—in time—beating her at her own game. She has no fears though. She's waiting for the ONE to challenge her whom she'll refuse to play. And he will know that her refusal is a tacit admission that she is through forever with the "love all" game.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE AT LOCAL CHURCH

One of the most largely attended patriotic gatherings during the July Fourth season here was that led by Dr. James D. Hunter, Sunday evening at the Central Methodist church.

There was a heavy rainfall up until the time of the service, but it seemed to keep few if any away from the church.

Following a special musical program, Dr. Hunter spoke on the necessity of America having a "mission" if this country hopes to endure. It was explained that the founders of America had a definite mission, and one based on deep religious convictions, that were in accord with the teachings of Christianity.

Dr. Hunter said that unless America understood to put the Christian program into effect, this country had no worthwhile mission. The speaker traced the westward sway of empire, showing that in America civilization had made its last stand.

The importance of the ideals of the founders of this country being held by this and future generations was insisted upon, by the speaker.

the wise and the unwise." The speaker said he noticed a funeral procession lately made up of people unknown to him, but that he heard the expressions of sorrow and saw the tears upon the faces of the bereaved. He said he once saw tears upon the face of a child of another race, and was touched by its cry "I want my mamma."

It was declared that at a recent joyous wedding, tears came at the last, when the bride was about to part from her parents.

The preacher said that when Christ wept at the tomb of Lazarus, he believed it was because the Son of God saw down the ages many millions of deaths that must come, and that Christ was also moved to sympathetic tears, when he saw so many weeping at the tomb of Lazarus. The weeping of the Savior over Jerusalem was explained as the pouring out of His love for a deluded and ruined people. In the last place, the speaker explained the intercessory tears of the Savior, when "He wrestled, as it were, with God for the salvation of the world."
